With an outlook towards future employability and to develop competent graduates, with requisite skills and knowledge, we have pioneered and introduced supplementary law programmes such as the Pakistani Legal Skills Course, Themis Law Clinic, Critical Thinking & Analysis Sessions, Moot Court Competitions, Criminal Mock Trials, Legal Show and regular visits to the courts. The supplementary law programmes are conducted alongside our core curriculum and guarantees that our students think and act like lawyers from day one and are prepared to stand out in today’s competitive legal environment.

We also take your career aspirations very seriously and therefore have a dedicated department for career services and employability, which guides you at every step regarding your postgraduate study options, including BPTC, LPC, LLM, as well as assisting you with placements in law firms for internship and employment.

However, Themis is not just about academics; it is equally important that you take time out from your studies and enjoy your university life. To this end, the Themis Law Society, a student-led society arranges various activities throughout the academic year, including beach trips, musical evening, games night and other activities for the entire student body.
You also have the choice of running for elections and having a say in the student affairs! Moreover, there are numerous other student-led societies and clubs on campus, including Music Society, Sports Society, Drama Society which you can join and arrange activities therein.

Choose Law -
A Profession for All

A law degree is one of the most well-respected undergraduate qualifications. Lawyers command respect everywhere in the world. A law degree offers an idealistic person a realistic way to make a difference in the world. Most of the world leaders who have made meaningful changes were lawyers, such as Jinnah, Allama Iqbal, Gandhi, Abraham Lincoln, Nelson Mandela, and others.

Lawyers play a diverse range of roles in our society. Lawyers defend and prosecute criminals, defend and protect constitutional rights, help children in adoption and foster care situations, advise clients about their rights and obligations, negotiate transactions, draft agreements and help to solve complex and stressful disputes of the members of society.

By becoming a lawyer, you too will have the power to uphold individuals’ rights by serving people who are in trouble, advocating for causes in which you believe in and protesting against unjust treatment of the vulnerable members of the society who are not strong enough to stand alone. You will also have the power to change laws which are unfair or against the welfare of society and help to make laws which are necessary for the betterment of the society.

LEGAL PRACTICE AREAS

- Human Rights Law
  - Human Rights lawyers play an integral role in protecting the fundamental rights of individuals, both nationally and internationally. They promote justice and fairness and regularly create awareness on human rights laws and violations.

- Constitutional Law
  - Lawyers fight for citizens’ constitutional rights like the right to free speech, right to life, right to property, among others.

- Environmental Law
  - Lawyers fight to protect the environment and ensure that companies comply with environmental laws.

- Corporate Law
  - Corporate law is built on the foundations of contract law and largely encompasses company and corporation law.

- Family Law
  - Lawyers argue cases pertaining to family law matters such as divorce, custody inheritance, among others.

I treasure the sentiments, the determination and the hardwork of our Directors in founding Themis School of Law. I will forever be indebted to them for their dedication and commitment to not only Themis students but also the improvement of legal education in Pakistan.

They didn’t give me classmates, they gave me friends turned family. The relationships and the memories I have associated with this place I now call home, I will forever cherish! Three years ago, I took a chance on Themis, little did I know they took a chance on me too. And for that mutual decision, I am so very grateful!

Themis has offered me what I had been looking for in a law school. The helpful teachers, not an overly crowded campus, extremely friendly staff, and friends like family, all made a big difference in my experience being completely extraordinary in the three years at Themis. Choosing Themis over all other options was one of the best decisions of my life! All in all, my experience at Themis has been phenomenal. It has opened so many doors and opportunities for me and I am glad that I settled for the best and that is Themis.

Our courses are designed to ensure that you gain a formidable range of essential skills that are welcomed throughout the business world. From working in multinational companies, banking and finance, to technology, media and charities, a legal qualification is highly regarded in a variety of sectors.

You can expect to learn valuable commercial and practical skills, taught by qualified practitioners, often in small group workshops. We also place strong emphasis on individual tutor contact and feedback for the benefit of our students.

In order to ensure our students are career ready by the time they graduate and have an edge over the other law graduates in the market, Themis School of Law has designed various distinctive supplementary programmes for their professional and/or practical skills enhancement.

The Pakistani Legal Skills Course thereby adds great value to the University of London law degree. It ensures that our students have an internationally recognised degree, coupled with strong understanding of laws and procedures governing the Pakistani legal system.

Critical Thinking Sessions

Critical Thinking Sessions are another unique initiative of Themis School of Law. This supplementary programme allows our law students to enter into intellectual discourse on topics ranging from politics and governance to euthanasia and abortion.

These Sessions involve logic as well as creativity. It includes assessment of inductive and deductive reasoning, analysis and problem-solving as well as creative, innovative and complex approaches to the resolution of issues and challenges. One of the significant aims of education is to produce learners who are well informed, that is to say, learners should understand ideas that are important, useful, beautiful and powerful. Another is to create learners who have the appetite to think analytically and critically, to use what they know to enhance their own lives and also to contribute to their society, culture and civilization.

By debating on various issues outlined in the module, we ensure that our students have the ability to make logical & rational arguments and at the same time defend their position and hold their stance.

The Pakistani Legal Skills Course thereby adds great value to the University of London law degree. It ensures that our students have an internationally recognised degree, coupled with strong understanding of laws and procedures governing the Pakistani legal system.

Our Distinctive Supplementary Law Programmes

Pakistani Legal Skills Course

Themis School of Law has designed and introduced the 'Pakistani Legal Skills Course', a unique and first of its kinds course for the University of London law students. This foundational certificate course is intended to equip our undergraduate law students to gain essential knowledge of the Pakistani legal system and develop competence in practical legal skills which are required for law practice in Pakistan.

The Pakistani Legal Skills Course covers fundamental practice areas of law in Pakistan. The course focuses on broad thematic areas of law, with sub-themes and inter-relationships thereof, instead of having a strictly statute based approach. Some of the areas covered under the Pakistani Legal Skills Course include Constitution of Pakistan, Civil Procedures & Laws, Criminal Procedure & Laws, Advocacy etc. The course is taught by leading lawyers who have breadth of experience in legal practice and have immense command over the subject.

In order to ensure our students are career ready by the time they graduate and have an edge over the other law graduates in the market, Themis School of Law has designed various distinctive supplementary programmes for their professional and/or practical skills enhancement.

Themis Law Clinic

Themis Law Clinic is a clinical legal education programme designed to introduce our students to real-life legal issues that are prevalent in our society. The primary objective of Themis Law Clinic is to provide pro bono legal services, including advising and counselling, to local people who need legal advice and representation but cannot afford it. At the same time, through the Law Clinic, our students will have the opportunity to develop analytical and advocacy skills from direct experience, as well as gain insight into a lawyer's role involving factual investigation, research, writing, drafting, problem solving, client relations, and professional responsibility and thereby be prepared for successful entry into the legal profession whilst still in school.

The students will work closely on the cases and research on topics under the direct supervision of Law Clinic's faculty and practicing lawyers. The Law Clinic will consist of both classroom component as well as casework component. The Themis Law Clinic is very intensive and requires strong dedication and commitment by the student members. Therefore, only such students are selected for the Law Clinic who have a strong inclination towards practical legal tasks and who would honour the commitment towards the Clinic.

Themis Law Clinic provides advice and services in the following areas:

- Family Law
- Human Rights Law
- Contract Law
- Employment and Labour Law
- Consumer Rights Law
Moot Court Competitions

Each year Themis School of Law conducts Intra Mooting Competitions for the students of Themis. This Competition is a great opportunity to expand the horizons with regards to written as well as oral advocacy and get feedback from renowned legal practitioners. There are two (2) rounds of the Annual Intra Moot Court Competition. The first round is the Knock Out Round which is followed by the Final Round. The winning team of the Intra Moot Court Competition becomes the representative team of Themis School of Law in all external mooting competitions.

Legal Essay Competition

Each year, Themis School of Law conducts an Annual Legal Essay Competition which is open to the entire student body, regardless of their year of study.

The topic for the legal essay competition is selected based on the current happenings in the legal world nationally and internationally.

All students are encouraged to participate in this Competition and discuss their perspective on the designated topic. Similarly, students are also encouraged to discuss any novel issues, innovative ideas and fresh perspectives. Students are also encouraged to research and include public policy issues, practical implications of leading judgments worldwide, statutes or a need for statutory modifications or common law doctrines.

Visit to the Courts

In order to expose our students to the local legal framework of Pakistan, every year Themis School of Law schedules a visit to the Sindh High Court & the District Courts to allow the students to witness different kinds of ongoing legal proceedings.

Criminal Mock Trial

The Criminal Mock Trial provides law students real trial and advocacy experience at a competitive level. The students participate in a criminal trial before a judge and a jury, by creating their own direct and cross examinations, opening statements, closing arguments, and receive first-hand advice from practicing lawyers. The skills acquired through mock trial cannot be enhanced by book study alone. Mock Trials ensure that our students become more confident and poised and excel at public speaking.

Themis Legal Show

Themis Legal Show is a novel opportunity for young law students to showcase their communication and presentation skills coupled with the fact that they are not camera shy! Themis Legal Show focuses on providing the student body with a feel of law infused with journalism. Introduction to Law & Pakistani Legal System

Introduction to Law is a module for first year LLB students that will provide them with a brief insight of the fundamental areas of law that are taught at undergraduate level.

The module covers a range of substantive legal principles and the law making framework in Pakistan. The course seeks to place law in its social, economic, political, historical and philosophical context and thus not only provides students with a knowledge of legal rules but also about the classification of laws in Pakistan and to help them develop a critical understanding of the operation of those rules in society.

BECOMING A LAWYER

TOP TIPS

Learn to Network:
“Networking is interacting with people to gain information and useful contacts which is crucial for a career in law.”

Behave appropriately on an internship:
“Play it right, be professional, wear a suit as that way you may get taken along to client meetings.”

Be yourself:
“Communicate like a natural human being. And don’t try and be someone you’re not, as you may not be who the firm is looking for at all.”

Improve your drafting:
“Powerful writing is a core skill in your toolkit. Do it well.”

Value your time:
“Other people are busy too. Value and guard their time as well as your own.”

Be a good host:
“When your client is in your law office, you are the host. Act like one.”

Experience is vital:
“You have to choose your area of law carefully because the job is very different depending on what you practise. Investigate things at an early stage so you know what you want to aim for.”

Learn effective questioning:
“You are responsible for getting all the facts from your clients. Your questioning technique should be such that it provides you all the information that the client does not wish to give.”

This is a client-focused profession:
“If you can’t interact and put clients at ease then your career will be harmed. It is not just about the law, it is about being responsive to clients.”

As I commemorate the day I was introduced to my future friends and teachers, the administration played a crucial role in making us feel like a family, and I can now, without equivocation, say Themis is my second home. Every student possesses a unique credibility. Themis works on bringing that credibility into play and every little effort done towards Themis or the Law Society is recognized throughout. The lectures and tutorials are interesting and academically stimulating. The most valuable part at Themis is being taught by experts in the legal field. Joining Themis can be labelled as the best decision for an undergraduate law student.

It was always a dream of mine, entering a Law School to better find my inner self. Coming to Themis surely fulfilled my conscience and made me dream even higher. I was exposed to many projects and opportunities so that I could grow as a person and can try to make a positive change in society.

I would strongly recommend Themis School of Law to anyone trying to pursue their career in Law. Themis School of Law has been providing more individual attention to students in their LLB Hons. Degree which is not the usual practice at University Level. The individual attention provided by lecturers, counsellors and the management motivates us to work harder and perform better! It allows us to identify our weaknesses and ways of improvement in professional, educational and personal growth. I could not have made a better choice.
